HAND THERAPIST

Gina McCloskey, MS, OTR/L, CHT

VISION

“To provide personalized care that restores function, relieves pain, and empowers each patient to regain their independence. I value the relationships I build with my patients and take pride in helping them achieve their unique goals every step of the way.”

EDUCATION

- Master of Science, Occupational Therapy, Philadelphia University (Jefferson University)

POPULATIONS TREATED

I work with patients of all ages- from kids to older adults- providing care that's tailored to each stage of life. My special interest areas include working with patients recovering from fractures; helping them heal, get stronger, and return to their everyday activities. I also enjoy creating custom orthoses that provide the right support to make recovery easier and more comfortable.
